IIM-Ranchi to train model school head masters

TNN | Oct 2, 2022, 08:16 AM IST

RANCHI: The Indian Institute of Management, Ranchi will train the headmasters of the model schools for the next three years. IIM signed an MoU with the Jharkhand Education Project Council (JEPC) to support the state government in establishing 405 Adarsh Vidyalaya (model school) across the state.

According to the agreement, IIM will impart leadership training to the headmasters of the model schools across the state. In the first phase, headmasters of 80 model schools will be trained at the IIM campus. An impact assessment will also be conducted by the institute to evaluate the effectiveness of the training programme. Deepak Kumar Srivastava, the director of IIM, Ranchi, said, "This collaboration with the government of Jharkhand is further evidence of our philosophy of global excellence with locally-focused responsiveness. We are not only preparing our students to be industry-ready, but also contributing to society and the nation's development. We will continue working hard to give back to the society." TNN
